Folks:

Even when ghosting our new site has a lot going for it. As long as you don't mind concentrating so hard that your eyeballs start to bleed and having your fingers go numb from the cold. The last race was almost 15 minutes for one lap. But the boats were moving the whole time, even if we couldn't figure out how.

Enjoy.

Larry Stiles

*Ghosting: A nautical term that describes when you think your sailboat is moving but it is actually dead . . . calm.
