FINAL RESULTS

We got another 6 races in our abbreviated day today. Unfortunately the forecast came true today with a nice start to the day but not far into the afternoon and it just ran out of steam/wind.

So 13 races in the books and we are all counted up. There are two links right on the front page at coastaliom.webs.com that will bring up the full results. If you can't get those to work let me know so I can work on figuring out why not.

Thanks to the few people whop helped me out and a big thanks for everyone who travelled to support our event. It makes it all worthwhile with this great attendance. Hopefully next year will bring back our good spring winds and we can get back to cranking through races. Berry
