Folks:

Sorry for the hiatus. But it's been insane around here what with medical procedures and such. Add to that the increased pressure linked with the odd death threat it became clear that there was a real demand for the race results.

Well OK. Here ya go.

What with the Rosario site, last years winter venue, being taken off the table, It's been time to settle down and deal with the challenging conditions that we can be presented with at Bowman in the winter. Call it climate change or what have you, looking to last years sailing conditions for guidance as to what to expect this year is chancy at best.

That being said, Sunday was a peach, SE to SW with a little due West and more than a little due East. A lot of it at the same time. We've set the buoys to present a North South course and this usually worked.

Very interesting tactical sailing.

We called for B rigs early. This was a good plan on a couple of levels. There were gust that were blowing boats off of stands and planting mast heads in the drink coupled with lulls that made you grind your teeth and it made for very competitive sailing what with all of us using the same rig.

All of us needed to shake out our B's anyway. We are going to be using them a lot this winter.

Read and enjoy, then come on up and join us. Big fun.

Larry

PS. Many thanks to all the volunteer's that dealt with the dinghy and the score keeping. LS

PPS. I'll get Sunday 11/13's results sent as soon as I figure it out. LS
