Folks:

The day started with an undecided wind wafting out of the south, then the east, then the west. It looked like we were going to have a hair pulling contest.

About half way through the program the wind settled out of the west and build to a right smart breeze of 5 MPH or so and some top notch racing was had with just one point separating the top three finishers. Turned the day into a very satisfying event.

Many thanks to our scorer Trish and all the troops that man handled the dinghy and dealt with the course.

Enjoy.

Larry

PS. On another note, our mailing list is getting very top heavy and needs some maintenance.
