We had a terrific day of sailing at Rosario. The weather prediction was for top A rig wind strength from the SE which took us to Rosario as a favored location for this wind direction. Upon arrival the wind was light, perhaps 1 mph from the North.

As our sailors dribbled in we decided to stay at Rosario. After 2 races the wind came in from the SE and stayed that way until the last 2 races when it shifted back to the North. A guess of our typical wind speed during the day was 3 mph.

Bright warm sunshine and lots of impressed visitors on the dock.

I hope to see you Wednesday, but not Easter Sunday. Julian
